

ROBBLE AT FOUNTAINS FOR WESTERLY

In Compliance With State Law—Davis Farm Now Controlled by Musicology Promoter—Old Papers Presented Public Library.

The Davis farm, until recently owned by J. Daniel Davis and Frederick P. Davis of Pawcatuck and Walter H. Davis, heirs of Susan Davis, and upon which Dr. Franklin D. Lawson of New York has had an option for over a year, was sold Saturday by Frank W. Coy and the deed filed for record in the town clerk's office. The purchase includes over 300 acres of land and a mile or more of beach, extending from the Quoniam river to the Quoniam river on the east to the Weekapaug holdings on the west. It is to be known as Musicology. As already stated, Dr. Lawson is planning to have it a summer colony of musical people, some of the leading singers and instrumental soloists of the country having already purchased building lots, and others have given assurance of their intention to purchase. It is planned to lay out a main street 100 feet in width, with well arranged side streets, and with building restrictions that will make Musicology one of the main beauty spots of the coast. The purchase includes a never-failing spring of water adequate for all the uses of the colony, and it is proposed to make the settlement modern in every respect.

The purchase includes two tracts of land located in the towns of Westerly and Charlestown. One tract is of 250 acres, more or less, with a house, barn and other buildings. The other tract is bounded northerly by the Post road, westerly by land now or formerly owned by Benjamin Gavit, James Ross and Edward Wilcox, easterly by Salt pond, and easterly by the Joseph Gavit and Edward Wilcox property. Reserved from this tract is the graveyard as now enclosed, together with the right to and from same, with vehicle or on foot.

The second tract is marsh, meadow and beach land. This tract is bounded on the west by land formerly owned by Jeremiah Thurston, on the north by Salt pond and the John Rose and Sanford Noyes property, on the west by land of the United States government, and by the beachway, and southerly by the Atlantic ocean.

A portion of the westerly border of the property is heavily wooded and it is Dr. Lawson's plan to reserve that section for natural park purposes. It is one of the most desirable sites for a summer colony on the coast and it is proposed to confine the settlement to musical people.

Dr. Lawson was in Westerly Monday. He said that 175 lots had been sold and all under restriction by deed. The lot owners will be taxed $5 a year per lot for the general maintenance and improvement of the colony, as the doctor's undertaking is not a money-making scheme. Aside from twenty acres of the forest land that is to be converted into a park, the forest will remain undisturbed forever and no bird or animal will ever be shot on the premises, a sort of haven where they will be free from molestation. Through the wooded land runs a brook that practically begins and ends within the Musicology and there are restrictions in the deeds to lot owners, who also become general owners of the property, that there shall never be any fishing in that brook. Provision is also made that the sand dunes near the beach will never be disturbed and it is the purpose being to reserve a section of the colony in its original naturalness. It is also planned to have meetings of musical organizations in the colony as well as musical festivals and the general advancement of all that pertains to music in the colony.

Dr. Lawson is enthusiastic in his project and declares he is receiving supporting encouragement, his aim and ambition being to establish an ideal summer home where singers and musicians can have recreation and preparation combined.

In compliance with state statutes, the cups at the drinking fountains in Westerly were changed several months ago, and therefore only animals can slake their thirst at the fountains. The Westerly water works commissioners, realizing the need of public drinking fountains, authorized Supt. Thomas H. McKenize to supply the need by placing sanitary drinking fountains near the postoffice, the railway station and in West Broad street. Within a week the best sanitary drinking fountains known will be installed at the places designated.

Mr. McKenize has selected fountains made of moulded cement, of pleasing design, and they are to be equipped with a sanitary bubbler, an improvement upon those now in use. In West Broad street, the water being emitted in equal volume, while the bubbler is absolutely sanitary. No matter what may be the pressure of water at the points where the fountains are to be located, the force at the bubbler is the same, and so regulation of water pressure at the fountains will be a pleasure as well as a benefit. The first of these fountains to be placed in position will be near the postoffice, a concrete pedestal for it was placed in position Monday.

POTATOES USED AS MONEY.
Colorado Saloon Gives Two Beers and Nickel for Single Specimen.

Denver, Col., July 31.—A new legal tender has appeared in Miliken, Col., caused by the scarcity and high prices of potatoes.

F. A. Murphy stepped into a saloon at Miliken, and ordered a glass of beer, and when that was gone a second, and then laid on the bar a nice, clean potato.

Murphy called for his change and the bartender gravely returned him a nickel and put the potato in the cash drawer.

Mr. Hill's Substitute. (Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, July 31.—In the ways and means committee last week, Representative Hill offered as a substitute for the motion to report the cotton schedules favorably, the following:

"Whereas, Upon the passage of the Payne bill the present speaker of the house submitted a motion to recommit the same with instructions to amend by reducing the duties levied by the bill to revenue rates, and

"Whereas, Such resolution has been supplemented by the following declarations by prominent leaders of the democratic party upon the floor of the house of representatives, as follows:

"Our position is that the taxes levied at the custom house are for the sole purpose of producing revenue to support the government of the United States, and we are not justified in levying taxes for any other purpose.

"Therefore, when a revenue schedule is put into effect, and every schedule prior to future changes in our revenue laws, and such policy was approved by a nearly unanimous vote of the ways and means committee, and a large majority of the house in the last congress, and

"Whereas, Such a tariff board has been established and is now at work investigating the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, and appropriations to that end have been made amounting to more than half a million dollars, and agents are now at work in the principal countries of production, and

"Whereas, assurances have been given to the members of this committee that full and complete reports upon both the cotton and cotton schedules will be ready when congress meets on the first Monday in December.

"Therefore, Resolved, That it is the opinion of the committee that the pending report upon the cotton schedule, which is withheld and that further consideration of schedule I should be postponed until the opening of the regular session of congress in December, when the investigation made by said board will be available."

The substitute was voted down by a strict party vote.

"Mr. Hardick of Georgia—

"My own idea is that we ought to raise as much as we can from the income tax, from internal tax duties, and then ought to supplement it, so far as possible, by a tariff on raw materials, and on non-competitive products exclusively, and a still higher revenue tax on articles of strict luxury."

"My construction of the time-worn battle cry of our party—'A tariff for revenue only'—may not be the conventional one, but it is, I believe, the one that sound statesmanship suggests. As I interpret that phrase, 'only' is not an adverb of purpose, but an adverb of effect, and duties should be laid not only for the sole purpose of obtaining revenue, but so as to have no other effect except to raise revenue."

"And, whereas, these declarations of policy are being carried into practical effect by the introduction and passage through the house of representatives, first—by a bill putting up on the free list at a conceded loss of nearly eleven millions of revenue annually the products of which there is a domestic production of between two and three billions of dollars, and second, the reducing to a purely revenue basis the products of which there is a domestic production of between two and three billions of dollars, and second, the reducing to a purely revenue basis the products of which there is a domestic production of between two and three billions of dollars, and

"Whereas, the last political campaign the republican platform of 28 states of the union, to wit—Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin, declared in favor of a permanent independent tariff board, with a view to an intelligent and thorough examination of every schedule prior to future changes in our revenue laws, and such policy was approved by a nearly unanimous vote of the ways and means committee, and a large majority of the house in the last congress, and
